

SNAPSHOT: BISEXUAL IN AMERICA

an infographic presented by

Stigma, legal inequality, and lack of bisexual-specific data contribute to poor outcomes for bisexual people in the United States. This infographic explores these three factors and their impact on bisexual peoples' health, safety, employment, and economic security.

STIGMA

The term bisexual (or bi) describes people who have the capacity for emotional, romantic and/or physical attraction to more than one sex or gender. Read more about bisexual people in Understanding Issues Facing Bisexual Americans.

Despite comprising more than half of the lesbian, gay, and bisexual population, bisexual people often face pervasive stereotypes and myths. For example, when people come out as bisexual, it is often assumed that they are "confused" about or hiding their "real" sexual orientation. These stereotypes and myths can lead to discrimination, invisibility, or a lack of acknowledgement that bisexual people exist. For example, people may assume a bisexual person is heterosexual or gay based on the gender of their current partner, or may intentionally refer to the "gay" community in order to exclude bisexual people.

LEGAL INEQUALITY

Sexual orientation includes bisexuality; states with laws that prohibit discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation also protect bisexual people. Likewise states with laws that permit discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation leave bisexual people vulnerable. Visit MAP's Equality Maps to learn more.

SEXUAL ORIENTATION POLICY TALLY BY STATE

SEXUAL ORIENTATION TALLY
High	11 to 19
Medium	4 to 10.99
Low	0 to 3.99
Negative	-5 to -0.01

SEXUAL ORIENTATION TALLY BREAKDOWN
Marriage and Relationship Recognition	3
Adoption and Parenting Laws	7
Non-Discrimination Laws	4
Safe Schools Laws	2
Health and Safety Policies	3
Total	19

NOTE: This tally includes laws that explicitly mention sexual orientation. The term "sexual orientation" is loosely defined as a person's pattern of romantic or sexual attraction to people of the opposite sex or gender, the same sex or gender, or more than one sex or gender. Laws that explicitly mention sexual orientation primarily protect or harm lesbian, gay, and bisexual people. That said, transgender people who are lesbian, gay or bisexual can be affected by laws that explicitly mention sexual orientation.

LACK OF DATA

There is conclusive data showing that bisexual people experience poverty, workplace discrimination, negative health outcomes, and violence at higher rates than lesbian, gay, and heterosexual Americans. But more data is needed to understand the particular vulnerabilities and needs of bisexual people.

DATA COLLECTION DO'S

- Distinguish between gay and lesbian and bisexual people
- Distinguish between bisexual behavior and identity

DATA COLLECTION DON'TS

- Conflate data for gay, lesbian, and bisexual people
- Conflate bisexual behavior and identity

Bi-Inclusive Terminology
Terms to Use	Usage Examples	Terms to Avoid bisexual (adj.) or bi (adj.)	"She's bisexual." / "He is bi." "bisexual people"	Always try to use the term that someone identifies with.
lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender (if needed for clarity)	"laws that protect lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender people"	"LGBT" (when talking with those who are not yet strong supporters)
openly bisexual, openly bi	"She is openly bi."	"She admitted/claimed to be bi."

POOR OUTCOMES

VIOLENCE

Bisexual people experience higher rates of sexual and intimate partner violence than gay, lesbian, and straight people. Bisexual survivors of violence are 2.3 times more likely to have an act of violence against them classified as a "hate crime." When bisexual survivors interact with police, however, they are three times more likely to experience police violence than people who are not bisexual. ### ECONOMIC INSECURITY

Bisexual people in the United States face reduced earning and higher costs due to three primary failures in the law. First, lack of nationwide protection from discrimination means that bisexual people can be fired, denied housing, and refused medically-necessary healthcare simply because they are bisexual. Second, despite recent wins, bisexual people who are part of a same-sex couple face barriers accessing the same benefits afforded to non-LGBT families when it comes to health insurance, vital safety-net programs, and parental recognition. Third, failure to adequately protect LGBT students means that bisexual people and their families often face a hostile, unsafe, and unwelcoming environment in local schools, as well as discrimination in accessing financial aid and other support. Read more about the economic insecurity of LGBT people in MAP's Unfair Price reports.

HEALTH

Bisexual people have higher rates of poor or fair physical health, hypertension smoking, and risky drinking than heterosexuals, lesbians, or gay men. Bisexuals also have higher rates of attempted suicide: one study found bisexuals were four times more likely and lesbian and gay were two times more likely to report attempted suicide than heterosexual adults. ### EMPLOYMENT

Bisexual people face pervasive discrimination in the workplace. Nearly half of bisexual people report that they are not out to any of their coworkers (49%), compared to just 24% of lesbian and gay people. Read more about employment discrimination in A Broken Bargain.
